UNION COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY PROGRAMS

Slavery in Central Pennsylvania (and how they got away with it)

Saturday, February 23, 2019 at 12 noon

at the Public Library for Union County, 255 Reitz Boulevard, Lewisburg, PA

We can trace the history of African-Americans in Pennsylvania all the way back to William Penn’s father. How and why did their relationship with the surrounding European population change over the years? How did our definitions of freedom and liberty change? What other political and economic realities did they face?

Contrary to popular belief, the “peculiar institution” did not exist solely in the South. This program examines the changing perceptions and definitions of freedom and slavery in the 18th and 19th centuries. Please join local historian Bruce Teeple as he explores the institution of enslavement as practiced in Pennsylvania.

The program is free and open to the public. Please call the library at 570-523-1172 to reserve your place.

History of the Dale-Engle-Walker House

Saturday, March 23, 2019 at 12 noon

at the Public Library for Union County, 255 Reitz Boulevard, Lewisburg, PA

Everything has a story to tell, including the place we call “home.” But what sorts of questions can we ask? When we look at a property’s purchase, at the materials used in its construction, or at the decisions owners made over time, we can learn how to connect with our own places and appreciate those changes still affecting us today.

Join local historian Bruce Teeple as he shares what’s been learned recently about the Union County Historical Society’s home, the c. 1793 Dale-Engle-Walker House.

The program is free and open to the public. Please call the library at 570-523-1172 to reserve your place.

Benfer started taking photos of the CSVT in 2016.

Dear Society members and friends,

Regardless of age, background, or perspective, we all have a set of practical skills to tap. Part of our mission is to make UCHS a welcoming place for visitors and workers alike. Other than three part-time staff members, everyone else at UCHS is a volunteer, providing the eyes and ears needed to fulfill our mission successfully.

Volunteers anywhere, at any level, require three things:

- Organization – Volunteers need to see the big picture, why things are done the way they are, and how indispensable they are.
- Communication – Nothing beats a free flow of ideas and suggestions for improvement, with mission fulfillment as the yardstick to measure all words and actions.
- Accommodation – Volunteers have lives, so organizations need to be flexible and considerate. Out of all the other places they could be, of all the other things they could be doing, they choose to work with us.

UCHS’s committees play a vital role in decision-making.

- The Archives Committee obtains and maintains items in the collection.
- The DEW Committee supervises the Dale-Engle-Walker Farmstead.
- The Development Committee works on strategic fundraising.
- The Finance Committee oversees our investments and committee budgets.
- The Membership Committee creates our promotional communications and coordinates activities, such as the seasonal merchandise venues. Its Nominating Subcommittee reviews candidates for the Board of Directors.
- The Outreach Committee is an umbrella group with four subcommittees: Education develops exhibits and Dale-Engle-Walker House tours; Events coordinates large activities at Dale-Engle-Walker; Programming organizes talks on local history; and Publications oversees book and article production by UCHS.

An exciting way you can help UCHS is to participate in the Strategic Planning sessions this winter and chart some new, long-term directions. The first session will be Wednesday, January 23 at 1 pm, at the Dale-Engle-Walker House.

Everyone has something to offer, so please contact the UCHS office if you would like to join us as we develop a history for the future.

Bruce Teeple

The Union County Historical Society invites members, as well as the general public, to participate in the first of several strategic planning sessions. These sessions will examine the historical society's current status and the directions it can take. "The more input we have from everyone, the better our programs can fulfill our mission by reflecting the needs of Union County. We want to build a history for the future," said Bruce Teeple, historical society president. "Please join us for discussion."

SMALL WORLD

From our friend and colleague Rick Sauers, curator at the Western Museum of Mining and Industry, Colorado Springs (previously director of Packwood House Museum, Lewisburg), a flyer from the Rock Ledge Ranch in Colorado Springs, Colorado, containing this back story:

"It was Spring 1874 when the Chambers family arrived by train to Colorado Springs after selling their wheat farm in Mifflinburg, Pennsylvania. That November they purchased Walter Galloway's prime homestead claim of 165 acres with water rights in the Camp Creek Valley. Both Robert and Elsie were experienced in commercial farming – Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, the Hudson River Valley – and had expected to cultivate the grain and fruit crops they knew. But when the Rocky Mountain Locust Plague (1874-77) brought devastation across a broad swath of pioneer farms, they found other ways to support their family. Once the Chambers' home was completed in Spring 1875, work began on the greenhouse (behind the house next to the root cellar) to protect their first crops. By Summer 1877, they were able to offer meals, boarding, and also greenhouse plants and produce."

The Rock Ledge Ranch Living History Association plans to reconstruct Robert and Elsie Chambers' greenhouse near the 1875 Rock Ledge House historic site. The project will help provide programs that represent and interpret the social agricultural and economic development of the Pikes Peak Region from 1775 through 1920.

PEOPLE MAKE A DIFFERENCE

The Historical Society Annual John B. Deans Dinner & Program was held on November 16 at the Lewisburg Hotel. An excellent program on “The Reading Railroad in Union County” was presented by railroad enthusiast Tim Bitner of Lewisburg. The silent auction raised almost $1000 towards the Bill Clemens Scholarship Fund. Many thanks to all who participated.

Awards were presented to individuals who have had impact through specific and outstanding projects, or services, that support the appreciation and understanding of local and regional history:

The Outstanding Service Award was given to Phyllis Dyer, of Winfield, for preserving artifacts and memorabilia of Winfield, Union Township and Union County; and for organizing Union Township's Bicentennial celebration.

The Outstanding Achievement Award was given to Logan Roush, of New Berlin for serving on the Board of the New Berlin Heritage Association, organizing the Annual Historic New Berlin Day, and maintaining the New Berlin Heritage Museum's collection for the benefit of future generations.

The Outstanding Service Award to presented Christopher Macneal, of Philadelphia for his extensive research on the construction and history of Union County's agricultural architecture, and from that work, writing The Shape of Time in Buffalo Valley: Farmsteads and Barns of Union County, Pennsylvania.

Summer internships available at UCHS:

To qualify for a paid internship, undergraduate students must attend an accredited four-year PA college/university, and be eligible for financial aid, and live in Union, Northumberland or Snyder County. Internships are intended to enhance the student's education and complement their field of study (such as history, business, education). Work at the society office (M-F) may include research, writing PR, data entry, and general office tasks. Interns may also serve as guide or host at the Dale-Engle-Walker House.

Letters of interest must be received at UCHS by February 28. For more information, please contact Linda Rhoades-Swartz: 570-524-8738 or info@unioncountyhistoricalsociety.org.

Many thanks to those who helped at Christkindl Market: Jeff Reber, Craig & Nancy Miller, Jamie Wagner, Diane & Jim Lenge, Kathy & Jim Swope, Kim & Steve Ranck, Doug & Karen Hovey, Glenda Sheaffer, Bruce & Michelle Teeple, Dan Bower, and Linda & Barry Swartz; and to Karen Gardner for display material. This year's event was, as usual, a successful fund-raiser for the historical society. Mifflinburg's Christkindl Market, an outdoor German- style Christmas market, is a festive shopping and dining experience. Please consider joining other UCHS members next year in the fun of decorating and staffing the UCHS booth at the Christkindl Market.

Additional volunteers and researchers are welcome. Contact the society today!

Special thanks to Fred Swanger who cleaned and varnished the handicap ramp at the Dale-Engle-Walker House. He did a wonderful job – it looks new and is safer.

REQUEST:

Some members are away from home during various times of the year. When you are “temporarily away” the US Post Office will not be hold or forward UCHS letters and newsletters – they are returned to us with postage due. To help us keep in touch with you, and reduce costs of returned letters, please contact us at 570-524-8666 or info@unioncountyhistoricalsociety.org to let us know when we can stop and then continue corresponding via mail.
